

Apply for later part of programme or change specialization

The autumn semester 2019 started a new Master's programme in Public Health Science with two specializations: Health Economics and Equal health (M2PHP). The programme replaces the Master's programme in Public Health Science with Health Economics (M2FHH / M2MPH).

Application for later part of programme, including track change

Are you admitted to the Master's Programme in Public Health Science with Health Economics (M2FHH / M2MPH) at the University of Gothenburg? Then you can apply for admission to semester 2 of the new Master's Programme in Public Health Science (M2PHP). To be accepted, you must have attended courses on your current programme up to semester 2 and meet the general and specific entry requirements.

If all applicants cannot be provided a place, a ranking is done accordingly to the completed university credits within the programme M2FHH/M2MPH Master's Programme in Public Health Science with Health Economics. In case of equal qualifications, lottery is applied.

Track change

The Master's Programme in Public Health Sciences (M2PHP) offers two specializations: Health Economics and Equal Health. Prior to semester 2, those who are admitted to the programme can apply to change their specialization. Application to later part of the programme can be granted as permitted by available seats and resources and may only be approved for semester 2.